ABOUT THE INSTITUTE

The Institute on Education Law & Policy at Rutgers School of Law-Newark is New Jersey’s premier center for interdisciplinary research and innovative thinking on education policy. Its mission is to promote education reform and improvement through research, policy analysis and public discussion; to mobilize lawyers, scholars, and education practitioners to address complex and controversial issues in education law and policy in a comprehensive, in-depth manner; to improve public understanding of those issues; and to be a center for learning and innovative thinking about legal and public policy issues relating to education. Issues affecting New Jersey’s urban students and educators are the Institute’s primary focus, but those issues are addressed in the context of the state’s wide diversity and with an eye toward their ramifications for the nation as a whole.

“The program provides real information that will help you in real situations.”

Yorel Brown – Elementary Principal
Pleasantville, Atlantic County

“Probably one of the most needed programs for a principal. ...The materials are fantastic.”

Georgiann Gongora – Middle School Principal
Franklin Lakes, Bergen County

“From a superintendent standpoint it brings you back to a practical application of the theoretical information you learned in graduate school. It gives you a current understanding of where we are. It is an outstanding program for all building administrators.”

Albert J. Guazzo – Superintendent
Lakeland Regional High School
Passaic County

As student advocates, school counselors often find themselves on the “frontline” dealing with many highly sensitive matters. Participation in the Rutgers/FEA Law Institute has been invaluable in that it has afforded me an introduction to and understanding of the most current case law, delivered by an extraordinary group of legal scholars.

Janet Carlson Giardina - Director of Guidance
Winslow Township School District
Camden County
